

Panel 7: Kelly tip toes her way across the room. She manages to avoid the mess of underwear empty chip bags, and electronics. Panel should focus on Kelly's feet. Kelly is wearing long pajama pants. The pajama pants are purple with blue flower prints (a different type of flower than from her bed. A much more simple design.)

Kelly (narration)

I wasn't expecting anything
besides retina-burning digital numerals.

Alarm Clock

BEEP!! BEEP!! BEEP!!

Panel 8: Kelly's hand reaches for the snooze button on the alarm clock. View is from behind the alarm clock looking up at Kelly. Kelly's hand should look bigger than her head because it is closer to the alarm clock than her head is. Kelly is wearing a matching pajama long sleeve button up shirt to match with her pajama pants. The back and top of the alarm clock should be visible. The snooze button is on the top of the alarm clock. The cord of the alarm clock can be seen.

Kelly (narration)

I think the clock's still mad.

Alarm Clock

BEEP!!! BEEP!!! BEEP!!!

Scene 5:

Panel 1: Kelly writes on an old receipt the word "Wave" with a large W and V. The other letters are short and squatty. The receipt is from a burger joint franchise called "Jack in the Box." On the receipt someone had ordered two tacos for $.99 and a Jumbo Jack also for $.99.

Sfx scribble scribble

Panel 2: Kelly puts the Bic pen behind her ear as she looks at what she wrote on the receipt. Kelly smiles confidently. In the background a overhanging conventional microwave oven can be seen that reads "Five Hours" on the display. Kelly wears the Bic pen for the rest of the comic.

Kelly (narration) Just like Mike.
I could be a forger.

Panel 3: The scene jumps forward and Kelly is behind the register. The customer is feeling impatient that Kelly is taking so long. Kelly is holding a five dollar bill in the air and staring at it pretending as if she was checking to see if it's counterfeit but she is actually just learning about where it's been. The customer is a middle aged woman with too much makeup and wearing high heels. The middle aged woman is buying a economy size pack of double A generic brand batteries.

CAP Three hours later

Kelly (narration) You'd be surprised where a dollar's been.
If only I had more time to listen to these bills.

Panel 4: A few men carrying Sturmgewehr 57 assault rifles and wearing black face masks with eye and mouth holes are running through the store. The impatient middle aged female customer is now on the floor with her hands fashioned with matching gaudy bracelets above her head. Other customers and staff are panicking and screaming. Even Mike hides behind a shopping cart. Kelly just stands behind the register as if this happens all the time.

Kelly (narration) All this commotion.
Just like the alarm clock.

Panel 5: A policewoman holding a 9mm pistol runs towards Kelly while telling everyone to stay calm. The policewoman holds the gun with both hands. The policewoman is in full uniform. Even the hat and badge.

Policewoman Everyone stay calm!
Stay down and don't panic!

Panel 6: Shows Kelly staring towards the direction of where the police woman would be. Spots of blood are scattered on Kelly's pale face. Panel focuses on Kelly.

Kelly (narration) For a moment I thought that my own head exploded.

